

SPORTS AID CYMRU WALES

We were pleased once again on Friday 19 November 2010 to support Sports Aid Cymru Wales at their eighth Charity Lunch.

Clay Shaw Butler were well represented by David Butler, Ann Thomas, Nigel Roberts, Amanda Russell and Caroline Gibbons. Invited clients and friends including Chris Jones, (Chief Executive of Cerebra), John Lewis and Michael Griffiths of Morris Roberts Solicitors, Wyn Thomas and Jason Evans (Castle Scaffolding), Ken Duxbury (Chris Cars) and Betsan Thomas (Lowless & Lowless Solicitors).

The sporting guest speaker was Steve Fenwick, a former British Lion and Welsh International introduced by Brynmor Williams, again a former Welsh International and Lions player and now Vice President of Sports Aid Cymru Wales. A magnificent top table also included Phil Steele of BBC Scrum V, Chris Golledge, humorist and comedian and Kevin Evans, Welsh Boxing Champion who was presented with a trophy from Welsh Sports Aid for participating in four consecutive Commonwealth Games for Wales. The North Walian actor Julian Lewis-Jones was interviewed by food critic Simon Wright. Julian explained, with great style, how he was given the role of the head Africano body guard in the Clint Eastwood film Invictus, "Make my day.....? He certainly did.

Other top table guests were, Rob Ryder, Golf Pro and prominent after dinner speaker and Vicky Thomas, golf amateur champion.

Over 120 gathered in the Ivy Bush enjoying a humorous and entertaining afternoon and an auction of sports memorabilia was conducted with great professionalism by our friend and client Gareth Scourfield. Ann's wonderful canter round the tables, with the auction items provoked Gareth to say "Ann you are not at Ffoslas now.....?" Had we taken a video camera, then this item could now be on You Tube!

David was most impressed by the assistance provided by Ann, Amanda and Caroline at the Auction in displaying the auction items amongst great humour from Gareth.
